OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT JOHNSON

On behalf of the Merritt College faculty, professional staff, and administration, it is my great honor and privilege to recognize and commend our Merritt College Graduating Class of 2026! We join your family, friends, and loved ones in expressing our deepest admiration and respect for the dedication and perseverance you have demonstrated in accomplishing this significant milestone.

This is a particularly meaningful moment — not only for you, but for Merritt College as an institution. As our college stands at the threshold of change, navigating new challenges and an evolving landscape, one thing remains constant and clear: you, the Class of 2026, represent the very best of what Merritt College has always stood for. Your achievement is proof that our mission endures, and your success is our greatest source of pride.

As you leave Merritt College and embark upon the next step of your journey, please know that you have been educated, trained, and prepared to meet any challenge and explore every opportunity. The knowledge, skills, and talents you carry with you are yours to keep — no change of circumstance can diminish what you have learned and who you have become. I know that you will meet the mark and be the leaders that your community, this nation, and the world need you to be. So please take a moment to bask in your achievement and partake in some celebratory joy. You have more than earned it.

But also remember that this is not the end of your journey. Great tasks and achievements still await you, so run headlong toward them and accomplish all that your mind conceives and your heart desires. And as Merritt College writes its next chapter, know that you will always be a part of the story that made this institution great.

So once again, I say Congratulations, Merritt College Class of 2026! You did it!!!

Rowena Brown, J.D.
At-Large City Councilmember

Biography

Rowena Brown, sworn in as Oakland's At-Large City Councilmember in January 2025, is a proud African American queer woman and life-long East Bay resident committed to justice, equity, and community-driven leadership. An award-winning organizer and former civics educator, workforce development coach, and legislative director, she has dedicated her career to expanding opportunity and uplifting LG-BTQ+ communities.

After losing both parents by age 17, Rowena transformed personal hardship into a commitment to public service focused on healthcare access, public safety, affordable housing, and economic opportunity. She holds degrees from Laney College, Mills College, and the University of California College of the Law, San Francisco.

COMMENCEMENT REGALIA

Caps & gowns funded by the Basic Needs Center; graduation sashes partially funded by the Aspira Project

The colorful attire worn by the graduates, the faculty and officers of the college on the occasion of these Commencement Exercises has historic roots in medieval times. Dressed in cap and gown, the graduates and their professors form part of a long tradition that dates back to the 12th and 13th centuries, when universities were taking form. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was the dress of a cleric. The gown seems to be an adaptation of the robe of a friar or priest; the hood, of the monk's or friar's cowl; and the mortarboard cap of today, the end product of curious evolution, recalls the skull cap of days when tonsured heads needed protection against the drafts of medieval classrooms.

European institutions have always had great diversity in their specifications of academic dress and this has been a source of confusion. In contrast, American colleges and universities opted for a definite system that all might follow. A Commission met at Columbia University in 1895 and adopted a code of academic dress, which besides regulating the cut and style and materials of the gowns, prescribed the colors, which were to represent the different fields of learning.

The Gown

The Gown. The three types of degrees each have a different style gown. Bachelor's gowns have pointed sleeves, and are worn closed. Master's gowns have oblong sleeve, open at the wrist, with the base hanging down, and rear part of the oblong cut square while the front arc cuts away. These robes have fasteners so they can be worn open or closed. Doctoral gowns have bell-shaped sleeves, also designed with fasteners so it is worn closed or opened. The doctoral gowns also have velvet panels down the front and three bars of velvet on the sleeves.

All three gowns are usually black. However, some institutions use the colors of the colleges and universities. The color and material of the panels and sleeve bars vary in order to indicate the field of learning in which the wearer's degree was granted; dark blue for Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.); light blue for Education (Ed.D.); white for Arts and Letters (D.Litt.); gold yellow for Science (D.Sc.); orange for Engineering (Ph.D.); purple for Law (LL., J.D., J.S.D., D.C.L.); green for Medicine (M.D.); scarlet for Theology (S.T.D., D.D.).

The Hood

Academic Hoods are black and made from the same fabric as the gown. Hoods vary in depending on the degree and may range from three feet to four feet. The doctoral hood is wider and is lined with college or university colors. They typically have one field color and one chevron color, though sometimes there are schoolspecific variations. The edge of the hoods are velvet and in the color of the degree subject. The colors follow the same schedule indicated above for the panels of the doctor's gown – white for Arts, gold-yellow for Science, olive-drab for Business, salmon for Public Health and Hospital Services, sage-green for Health Systems Leadership, apricot for Nursing, peacock blue for Public Administration, rose for Social Science, and so forth. A number of other items such as cords, stoles, or aiguillettes representing various academic achievements or other honors are also worn at the discretion of some degree-granting institutions.

The Cap

Headwear is an important component of cap-and gown, and the academic costume is not complete without it. The headwear will vary with the level of academic achievement and, to some extent, on the individual academic institution's specifications. The mortarboard material matches the gown and has become the universally accepted style in United States colleges and universities. Mortarboards have four sides, and typically have a tassel with a single button at the top, usually in the color of the degree-granting institution. The exception—velvet—is reserved for the doctor's degree only, seen in the form of a four, six or eight multiple-sided tam. The tassel worn on the mortarboard or a tam seems to provide, by tradition, the greatest opportunity for latitude in American academic dress. It has been black, or represented the college's or university's colors, or the discipline. The tassel has also been used to indicate membership in national honor societies or other awards. There is at some colleges and universities a practice of moving the tassel from one side to the other upon graduating. For doctoral and masters students, the tassel commonly begins and remains on the left.

A photograph of a large, dark grey stone sign for Merritt College. The sign is rectangular and features the words "MERRITT COLLEGE" in large, bold, gold-colored capital letters. In front of the sign is a row of lush green bushes. The background is filled with tall, mature evergreen trees under a clear blue sky. A few thin utility poles are visible in the distance. The foreground is a well-maintained green lawn with some shadows cast by the trees.
